

How underlying pedagogical models influence education and training in different cultural contexts

SIETAR 2005
Congress
Workshop
September 21
La Colle sur Loup
France

Every culture either produces or adapts different theories and models of learning, which influence teaching and training practice. Understanding Intercultural pedagogy allows teachers and trainers to be familiar with these underlying and often implicit models

Jonathan Levy & Joëlle Aden Specialists in Pedagogy & Learning

Info & Reservations

www.sietar-europa.org/congress2005

info@sietar-europa.org

+33 (0) 492976129

